A MURDEROUS ----ATIC.

He Intended to Kill a Lot of Doctor and Did Sia One. James M. Dougherty irst attracted pub lie notice two years age when he was ar-rested in New York city for annoying

Mary Anderson, the act ess. He was only a crank then. Now he is a murder r and a prisoner, destined either for execution or lifelong imprisonment in an insone asylum.

The story in its way is a remarkable one In 1885 Dougherty began to squander his substance in following Miss Anderson from city to city. By each mail he sent her letters, and he setzed every opportunity to gain an audience with her. His unwelcome attentions became so outrageous that in the fall of 1888 the JAMES M. DOUGHERTY. omplained to Inspector Byrnes, of New York city. Detectives took Dougherty into custody, and af-ter examination he was adjudged insane and committed to the asylum at Flatbush,

A few weeks ago he escaped, and the authorities of the institution, instead of taking steps to capture him, closed the record of the case by writing "discharged" opposite his name. A fortnight later he reappeared at the asylum, revolver in hand, and demanded his clothes. It is hardly necessary to say that he got them promptly. He made a second visit a few days afterward and shot dead Dr. George W. Lloyd. Then he roamed through the building looking for other physicians to kill, but their absence balked his murderous intent, and he fled toward New York city, being captured on Brooklyn bridge. When arrested he had on his person two big revolvers and thirty cartridges. Documents found in his pockets show that he had planned to kill till he got killed, and that his list of intended victims included between fifteen and twenty men against whom he had grudges.

Dougherty is 35 years old. After he had spent all his money chasing Mary Ander-son through Europe and America he made a living by the sale of subscription books. A TERRIFIC POWDER EXPLOSION.

Six Big Mills Destroyed and a Dozen Peopic Killied. "Six powder mills blown up! Seventeen persons killed, 150 acres devastated!" Such were the appalling tidings telegraphed from Wilmington, Del., recently, and later details have fully confirmed

SOME OF THE WHECKED HOUSES. them except as to the loss of life. It is now believed that only twelve persons recovered and crept from the ruins, where they had only been stunned. The Dupont powder works had a world wide reputation, having been established in 1802 by Dupont de Nemours, a French exile of Jacobin times. His sons Alfred Victor and Henry (since general) succeeded him and brought the works up to a scity of 50,000 pounds daily production It is thought that the explosion was caused by the carelessness of an employe engaged some time ago?" in soldering the powder cans, as his methods had previously been remarked on. "I suppose so, but Scores of dwellings in the vicinity were you ever paid for it.

The six mills blew up one after the other, which rendered the destruction a little less complete; but the noise was based to the destruction and the less complete. which rendered the destruction a little less uity and is susceptible of great cultiva-complete; but the noise was heard in both tion. Some of the Grecians could repeat the adjacent states. In 1851 three wagon loads of the Dapont powder blew up in Wilmington, killing several persons, and on Aug. 2, 1857, there was an explos the Brandywine works, by which several

Mrs. S. J. Edwards, of 125 West Twenty-fifth street, New York, has a fad. She has taken a lease of six acres on the rocky north point of Manhattan Island, nominally One Hundred and Eighty-fifth street and Amsterdam avenue; has turned the ramshackle cabins on it into a cat and dog ercise with privacy and security.

The boys and some adult loafers and swer? jokers have had their own fun with the parties in charge, and all sorts of suffering creatures have been sent in until the place is a feline sight. On a recent day Mrs. Edwards' residence was literally besieged by those who wanted their sick or wounded stocked with cate that the domestics resigned in a huff. Hereafter patients will be received only at the hospital.

WHERE THE ANIMALS LIVE. Strange as it may seem Mrs Edwards and her co-laborers have already received several contributions, and it appears as if many people are willing to pay for having their pets made comfortable in their old age. The promoters also expect to make some money by keeping high toned dogs es boarders while the owners are absent from the city.

He Was Tired of Life. Frederick Rayes, a German baker, 55 years old, living in Brooklyn, committed suicide recently by hanging himself. For some time past he has been morose and melabeholy, but his friends attached no mportance to it. He disappeared one orning, and Henry Hayes, his eldest hild, went in search of him. The young ian found the kitchen door locked, and ecoming suspicious burst it open. He was harrifled to see his father hanging by in next to a closet door. He immediately in the body down, which was stiff and cold. Life had been extinct for some time.

A FIVE DOLLAR TRANSACTION.

Travers-You are a nice friend to have Yesterday, when I had sworn to pay Dash sway a debt of honor to the amount of $5. and sent around to your office explaining the whole matter, you paid not the slightest attention to my request for a loan. Cleverton-Hold on. When you asked Dashaway first for that money he came around and borrowed it from me. So yes terday I really paid you $5, although, of course, you didn't know it at the time. Then I had you pay Dushaway. Then I had Dashaway pay me. That canceled his debt and yours. Do you see? Travers—Of course. And that makes us

Cleverton-Not much. You owe me $5. Travers-Not at all. I owed Dushaway $5, and he owed you $5. Now I paid him by your own confession the $5 I owed him. and through him I paid you the $5 that he owed you. That makes a total of $10 Five dollars of this, however, belonged to Dashaway. The other $5 I paid you, but as you had already lent me $5, this made us square.

Cleverton-No, no. You owed Dashaway $5, didn't you? Well. I paid him. So now you owe it to me. Weat could possibly be plainer? Travers-Well, we'll see about that Here comes Dashaway, Say, Dashaway, did this man pay you the $5 I owed you yesterday? Dashaway-No, I should say not. I have fust been looking for you. Travers (to Cleverton)-Then what do you mean by trying to do me out of $5? Wait a minute [waving his hand]. I'll prove it. Now, let us begin all over again, and start where we were yesterday, before you tried to mix this thing up. Cleverton, have you got that same $5 bill you had Cleverton (confused)-Yes, here it is, Travers-Then just let me have it for minute. I'm not going to rob you! That's minute. I'm not going to roo you: That's right. Now, Dashaway, I owe you 85 [hands it to Dashaway]. Now I have paid you, haven't I? Now you pay Cleverton what you owe him. [Dashaway hands the $5 to Cleverton.] Now, Cleverton, Dashaway has paid you the $5 he owed you, hasn't he?

Cleverton-Y-c-s. Travers-And are you anything out by the transaction? and haven't you got the same $5 you started with? You ought to take a few lessons in simple arithmetic Cleverton-That seems to be all fight. I can't see how I got so mixed up.

The Farm Teels. It would seem as if, after years of good counsel on the subject, some farmers would at least take the hint and look after the farm tools-particularly after the season's work is done; but it will require a good deal of preaching from the text before "conversion" is accomplished. So one would think who rides far in almost any direction this time of the year. Mowers and horse rabes still out in the fields, plows astride a rail fence, barrows leaning up against trees—these are some of the not uncommon objects which one may see on some farms. Get them in.
